Before the wheels fell off

The 2016 V/Line Network Service Plan (NSP): In mid-November 2016 V/Line at long last placed its June 2016 NSP and associated documents on its website at V/Line - Regional public transport for Victoria - Network service plan.

Although it contains a few formatting glitches, the 2016 NSP is a vast improvement on the 2015 NSP. The 2016 NSP has been enhanced with information on train rostering—the backbone of a “zig-zag diagram”. The pages of the Central Region have been split into two parts – passenger services which transit the Region and empty car and light engine movements confined within the Region.

The effects of the VLocity “wheel crisis” of early 2016 can be seen in the various changes to platform use at Southern Cross station, with many more services routed away from the notorious North Melbourne Flyover.

There has been a considerable rearrangement of the loco-hauled services, principally by switching 4VN with VN sets and vice versa.

The 2016 NSP has finally seen the “retirement” of 2-car (2VL) VLocity sets.

Since the NSP was issued, a number of minor amendments to services have been made by S-Notices, principally due to the arrival of the next batch of VLocity cars. The travel times of the NESG services were extended by 5 minutes over the time that has been in effect since the start of the services.

The Freight NSP is modified more frequently than the Passenger NSP, most often because of changes of Operators for some services.

ATA has reformatted and amalgamated the full set of NSP tables and all its supporting documents into a single 511-page document. This file is Item 18 in the December Distribution List.

Item 19 in the December 2016 Distribution List includes all the equivalent NSP documents for the June 2015 NSP, as well as a full logistical analysis of the history, structure and content of the NSP. It is compelling reading for those interested in understanding working timetables in Victoria.

2016 is the 20th anniversary of the issuance of this V/Line timetable under the “NSP” banner and the 37th anniversary of the disappearance of it under the old name of “Working Time Table”. ATA was only 6 years old when this happened.

The Freight NSP for June 2015 was previously included in the August 2015 Distribution List, but it is listed again as Item 20 in the December 2016 Distribution List for those who may now want to get a copy to complete the full sets of these NSP documents.
